Judy Dollinger Honored by Employees and Customers

After 47 years in the banking world, Judy Dollinger has decided to step aside and retire. She was recognized by employees and customers alike in special receptions held May 29 and 31.

Employees celebrated Judy's career with a special luncheon that featured a short program, pictures of her career, and a presentation by bank president Frank Joy.

Over the years, Judy has developed hundreds of relationships with customers. Many honored her on Friday in a public reception during Judy Dollinger Appreciation Day. She said, "I really enjoyed assisting customers and developing relationships with them."

Judy said retirement has not "hit her yet—it feels more like a vacation." But she is looking forward to retirement and would like to spend time traveling.

The staff and management of Bradford National Bank wish Judy a happy, healthy and busy retirement.

The annual free Shredding and Recycling Day, hosted by Bradford National Bank in conjunction with Highland Recycling, was a tremendous success. Several tons of old financial documents were securely destroyed and recycled.

The next event will be held in the spring of 2014, so begin sorting your old financial records now.

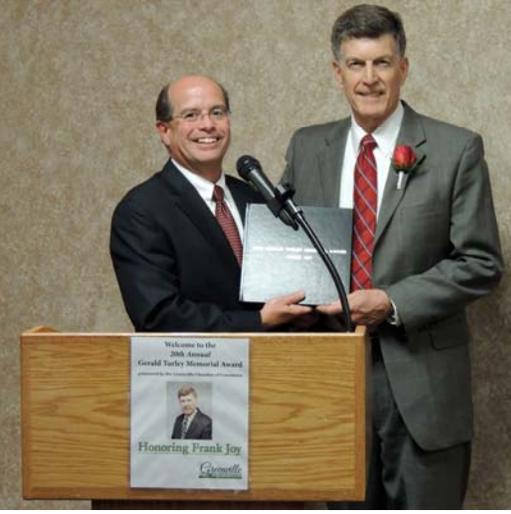

Last month, Bradford National Bank hosted a Business After Hours at our Highland Facility. The event, held in conjunction with the Highland Chamber of Commerce, and catered by Farmer's Restaurant, drew a large crowd for networking and socializing. Below are pictures from the event.

Frank Joy Receives Turley Award

The speakers honoring Frank Joy, this year's recipient of the Gerald Turley Award, all agreed on one thing. Frank is a quiet leader; but when he speaks, you should pay attention to the wisdom he is imparting. Joy is President of Bradford National Bank and has worked at the institution since 1970.

Honoring the 2013 Turley Award winner were Tony Koonce, AMVETS Post 140; Dave Willey, Greenville City Manager; Morris "Buddy" Bond, former Chairman of the Greenville Regional Hospital board; and Randy Alderman, Bradford National Bank.

Koonce shared examples of how Joy backed veterans' projects like the Honor Flight program. Willey gave an overview of Joy's service on committees and boards. Bond spoke of his long association with Joy on the hospital board. Alderman explained Joy's leadership style at Bradford National Bank.

Joy was commended for his support of numerous charities and causes. It was noted that he has encouraged his employees to become active in the community. Accepting the award, Joy took time to praise the efforts of all volunteers in Greenville. He also thanked his family, his valued employees, and the Chamber of Commerce.

To commemorate the 20th anniversary of the Gerald Turley Award, several past recipients were on hand. The award is named for Gerald Turley, a former Greenville mayor and visionary.
